CHICAGO IS PARALYZED.

The Grip Once More Gets in its Deadly Work.

BOTH MILLIONAIRE AND DENIZEN.

Officials as Well as Private Citizens Laid on the Shelf Temporarily.

CHICAGO, March 19.—Chicago is in the grasp of the grip. Residents of fashionable avenues and denizens in tenements alike are sufferers. Five hundred men employed on the West side street car system are laid off. The South side company has 125 men sick. Ten per cent of the police force is laid up and thirty men in the fire department are off. Fifty out of 150 mail carriers in the postoffice are suffering.

Hospitals are overcrowded. Boarding houses in the city have from one to twenty-five persons each laid up. It has invaded hotels, and fully one-third of the guests are ill. Many managers and hotel employees are also sufferers. Doctors are busy night and day.

HALF A MILLION.

A Louisville Failure That Takes Down a Tobacco House.

LOUISVILLE, March 19.—Schwartz & Co., private bankers, failed today for $300,000. Their assignment carries to the wall the Union Tobacco works. Schwartz was the resident German consul. Fred Janzen, a member of the firm, has mysteriously disappeared and fears are entertained that he has committed suicide.

VERY ROSY VIEW.

Secretary Rusk Talks Interestingly of the Future Farmer.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Secretary Rusk and Dr. Palmer, chief of the bureau of animal industry, came to New York yesterday to study the details prior to putting into operation the new law providing for the inspection of meats for export to foreign markets. Secretary Rusk talked with great enthusiasm of the future of the American pig. He took a rosy view of the farmer of the future. He believes that deserted New England farmers would gradually be taken up again, the tide of population which had been flowing to the far West, would be backward toward the older states, and the farming industry would again be stimulated.

Organized Labor vs. World's Fair.

CHICAGO, March 19.—Organized labor has made its final demand upon the World's fair directory. It has been granted eight hours a day and the establishment of a system of arbitration. It now asks that in lieu of all other concessions asked for the directory is a request to establish a minimum rate of wages, the rate to be that of union labor as fixed for various trades. In return for this, organized labor will promise that no effort shall be made to raise such wages.

Against Chinese Immigration.

LONDON, March 19.—The judicial committee of the privy council today on appeal of the colony of Victoria, Australia, confirmed the right of the British government to prevent the landing of Chinese immigrants in Victoria. The move against Chinese immigration was actuated by the same motives which inspired the recently enacted anti-Chinese laws by the American congress.

Revised Official Count.

GIBRALTAR, March 19.—The revised official count of the lost and saved passengers and crew of the ill-fated Titanic shows that there were 880 souls on board and of these 362 perished.

An Insane Walker.

NEW YORK, March 19.—This morning Gowan, the salvation army man who is a constant in the walking match, was seized with a fit of insanity. He uttered a wild shriek, sprang over the rail and made a dash for the street. He was soon captured and taken back to the garden. He is carefully watched now.

Not Tascot.

ABERDEEN, S. D., March 19.—Barnes, the latest alleged Tascot, was confronted this morning by Clark, the Chicago witness. He said the resemblance was remarkable, but that Barnes was too old for Tascot. He was positive, and thereupon Barnes was discharged.

Suffrage Circle and Age of Consent.

At the March meeting of the Suffrage circle to be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., at 211 East Superior street, the question for discussion will be: "Why can not Mothers Exercise Their Natural Right to Vote for the Protection and Happiness of Their Children, as Fully and Freely as They Exercise Their Natural Right to Pay for Their Protection and Happiness?" The business of the meeting will be to further pay to the legislature for a law that will protect girls, at least up to the age of 18 years. All ladies who are interested in the question, and would like to see girlhood thus protected, are invited to come and sign this petition. If you cannot remain to take part in the discussion, you can at least sign your name.

The Ocean Steamship City of Paris.

A beautiful and very complete model of the celebrated ocean liner and record breaker City of Paris, is now on exhibition at the place of Sam Haley, 13 East Superior street. It was made by Capt. Wm. McGilvray, commander of the new ferry Superior, and as a specimen of marine workmanship is scarcely excelled by anything.

Skating Race.

The five-mile skating race at the Twenty-first avenue rink last night was won by McCormick in 17 minutes, John Carlson was a close second, and E. Holmstrom dropped out near the end of the third mile. Carlson fell and hurt his knee during the race. A second trial will be had Saturday night, when Carlson hopes to win.

AFTER ITS LONG STRUGGLES.

What Some Local Members Have to Say of its Untimely Demise.

ADELPHIA IS DISSOLVED.

DETROIT, March 19.—It is decided to dissolve the Royal Adelpia, a well-known mutual benefit organization with headquarters here. The sick benefit was too large and there was a deficit of $30,000. The order had about 7000 members and will be wound up by a receiver.

ADELPHIA IS DISSOLVED.

The dispatch from Detroit is correct enough, said a local member, when shown the dispatch today. "It gives the status of the case, and shows that the officers we deposed have come to realize what we have known for a week—that the society is dead. That there were delegates in the convention who were not in good standing, is true also. It could hardly be otherwise when the books of the order were in such wretched shape. I know of men there who had money in their pockets with which they had expected to pay up their arrears, yet who would not pay over a cent when they saw how matters stood. It would have simply been throwing money away. They are welcome to the books; they are useless."

ADELPHIA IS DISSOLVED.

"There is a good deal of sorrowing in various quarters over the sensational demise of the Adelpia, and its effect is felt keenly by all who were unassuming policy holders. A woman in this city whose husband died last year, leaving a large insurance, had never received a cent. Other similar cases are mentioned, and they are scattered all over the Northwest. There is no remedy, and the victims must bear their disappointment and losses as best they can. Speaking of legal redress for the mismanagement at Detroit, a local Adelpian said today that there was little probability of anything being done, as the game would not be worth the candle."

ADELPHIA IS DISSOLVED.

A Meeting on the Bridge Question by the committee on streets, alleys and bridges met this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the city hall with property owners interested to discuss the plans of the city engineer and the St. Paul & Duluth Railroad company regarding the establishment of a grade on Michigan street for approaches to the Lake avenue viaduct, and also the grade of approach to the south end of the same viaduct. The city engineer's plan was to continue the approach from the north end of the viaduct over Michigan street at a distance above the street level of 10 feet. The company's plan was to raise the grade of Michigan street six feet and lower the approach six feet so that the viaduct would be on a level with Michigan street to go down Lake avenue.

ADELPHIA IS DISSOLVED.

At the south end of the viaduct the road company proposes an approach of 10 feet above the street level to a point 200 feet from Sulphur street and the engineer proposes a 3 per cent grade 600 feet in length reaching to Sulphur street.

DULUTH, March 19.—Local forecast until 8 a. m. tomorrow: "warmer; fair weather; followed by snow."

PROPOSED MEASURES.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion among those who have studied the matter carefully, that as soon as the water company has extended its mains 1500 feet a further and more radical move must be started, for the extension to 1500 feet will afford relief but temporarily, for a year or so at most, and that, also, the board of health must be reorganized.

In the first place, Duluthians interested have made surveys and estimates and state that mains can be laid down the lake shore to pure water at a cost not exceeding $15,000 a mile, that a distance of eight to ten miles would be ample to protect the city for all time. It is proposed that this work be done by the city and charged against the water company, which can with credit improved by that very work, issue bonds and pay for it. If the water company objects, it can be made the basis of a public plan. It is stated by the best legal authority in Duluth that this work can be so done and charged.

As to a change in the management of the health office, it is first to be said that the subject must be approached in no piquey spirit. A city council that will resolve to buy an electric light plant for $110,000 ought to be able to see the need of preserving health, even if it costs $5000 or $10,000 a year. The health officer should be a man not afraid of making enemies, he should know his business and energetic in doing it. He should have the utmost authority and should be backed by ordinances. Such a health officer could probably not be had for less than $3000 a year.

SOUTHERN COMPETITION.

The Chattanooga Tennessean is publishing some interesting letters from a correspondent in Ohio describing the iron roads Southern iron is making on the business of the mines and furnaces of the North. This correspondent says that of fifteen stacks in the Mahoning valley but three are active, and that the effect of Southern competition is being seriously felt by the great ore shippers of Lake Superior. He adds:

All manufacturers agreed that Southern iron had come to stay; that it was much maligned but that its quality was much superior to that which the general public gave the credit for. Many iron men believe a gradual change is being worked in the pig iron industry, which they attribute to the Southern product. They hold that both the price and markets are undergoing a reconstruction, that high prices for pig iron are a thing of the past, that each North ore producing district will ultimately find its own consuming market and that the trade is gradually narrowing itself to a question of largeness and small profits, all this brought about by Southern iron.

Lake Superior mine owners will take exception to some of the inferences of the enthusiastic correspondent. Other causes enter into the industry of trade in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys. But it is apparent that Southern competition is a real and formidable factor. We look to no general prostration of the iron industry of this section, such as the Tradesman's correspondent suggests. That involves the same erroneous estimate that carried the South into war. Northern mine owners and manufacturers will find it expedient and necessary to study and apply all practicable economies of production. Above all, there is no good reason why the rivalry between the sections should not be a wholly good humored one. Certainly, there is nobody in the North who does not honestly rejoice at the growing indications of Southern prosperity. Competition between the iron mines and furnaces of the North and South will in the long run, promote the increased prosperity of our common country.

The statement touching the urgent necessity for a liberal appropriation for the geological survey of the state, ought to receive the prompt attention of the legislature, says the Minneapolis Journal. No intelligent man can fail to see the vital importance of a thorough geological survey to the welfare of Minnesota. It is the key which unlocks the hidden resources and enriches the people, and it is a guide to investment. Money is wanted, not only to complete the survey, but to publish the results of the state geologist's field work in the northern counties where the iron ore abounds. If this state should spend $500,000 on the geological survey within the next five years it would be a profitable investment. At present, we only have a dim idea of the mineral wealth actually beneath our surface.

The wrecking of three naval vessels within thirty-six hours certainly does not speak well for the judgment of their officers, though it is probably the quickest way of getting rid of useless vessels. As all are old, wood and slow, they will be more of a nuisance than a loss. The most valuable, the Galena, was thirteen years old, of less than 2000 tons displacement, could steam but about ten knots, and would have been of less than no value in the event of hostilities. Nevertheless, the procedure of getting rid of useless vessels by slamming them up against rocks is attended with so many dangers to the lives and limbs of sailors, that while it may be expeditious it is on general principles to be deprecated.

Telegrams state that Tennyson will write a poem for the World's fair, and add the startling information that "thousands of American hearts will breathe a fervent prayer that he may have," etc. etc. If Lord Tennyson doesn't write any better than in late years thousands of American throats will breathe fervent prayers that he may be spared the infliction.

In the past twelve months more divorces have been granted in Duluth than in any city of its size in the Union. Are the families of this city making an organized effort to beat Chicago at its own game?

SEEN AND HEARD.

Talk about wholesale appropriation! The fifty-first congress isn't in it. Superior yesterday appropriated $100,000 for the city, which is a pretty good appropriation. The Telegram of that city last evening said: "After a few very exclusive reports in New York, one in Chicago and another in St. Paul, Herr Schawenka was induced to come to Superior and Duluth. This city is, therefore, to listen to a master who has denied many larger communities. At the congressional church in this city this evening, Herr Schawenka will appear." The 600 or 700 people who listened to Herr Schawenka last evening will be surprised at this. But it is a habit of the Telegram and doesn't count.

"I would like," said Mr. Peagreen, "to see a new daily paper started, and I might take it if it suited me. It must leave out the sporting matter, which is trivial; it must cut out of political articles, which are mere wrangling; it should not be stuffed with board of trade resolutions which interest very few people; it should give us a rest from crime, which is disgusting; it should give short space to the stuff called news, which is of no account; it should let people alone, and not abuse them." "But what would you print in it, Mr. Peagreen?" "It should give us essays on nature and virtue, sketches of life and society, accounts of eminent public characters and other like material supplied by scholarly writers, as well as boom business articles suited to the West. If you will start such a paper and sell it for a cent, I will try it for a day, and take it afterward if it suits me."

Whoever enters the average tobacconist's or barber's shop on the east side will notice that a snuff is more important than then it has been in nearly fifty years. Snuff jars and cheap pocket snuff boxes are pushed into great prominence on the shelves and counters, and the tobacco is being sold in the snuff habit and it is spreading rapidly. The custom is to use it nearly as men do tobacco, packing it in the pouch of one cheek alongside a cigar. A tobacconist who boasted of his sales of snuff to women yesterday said that German-American women were the introducers of the habit, but that all sorts of women are following suit.

The biggest money that has been made in the book-publishing trade in recent years, says the New York Sun, has come to the coffers of a firm that copied German custom of putting a float of little booklets, some with cut-out covers and all made as attractive as possible in one way or another. The matter between the covers, as well as the pictures, cost nothing and amounted to nothing. The whole enterprise was based on the idea that women who have money will know away from anything that catches their eyes and meets their idea of what is ornamental regardless of its value.

Tariff Pictures. The treaty with Brazil will make this increase even greater in ten years from now. Our average exports of oils—crude, mineral and animal—for five years (1885 to 1890 inclusive) were $3,717,713.

In 1890 they were $5,430,376.

TWO SINNERS.

There was a man, it was said one time, who went astray in his youthful prime. On the brain creep cool and the heart keep quiet.

When the blood is a river that's running riot! And boys will be boys, the old folks say, And the better who's had his day.

The sinner returned and the preacher told Of the prodigal son who came back to the fold, And the Christian people threw open the door, And the sinner who had been lost, he was found, And wealth and honor were his to command, And the world strove their pathway with flowers.

There was a maiden went astray, In the golden dawn of her life's young day; She had more passion and heart than head, And she followed blindly where foot led; And love unchecked is a dangerous guide To wander at will by a fair girl's side.

The woman repented and turned from sin, But no door opened to let her in; The preacher prayed that she might be forgiven, But told her to look for mercy in heaven; For this is the law of earth we know, That the woman is scorned, while the man may go.

A brave man wedded her after all, But the world said, frowning, "We shall not call!"

Standing with reluctant feet Where the brook and river meet, Is a period of "maidenhood" which is perilous in the extreme to a healthy, vigorous womanhood. Rockiness, exposure, at certain times, which induce irregularities, has wrecked many a fair young life. To all afflicted with derangements of a uterine nature Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is of inestimable value. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle wrapper and faithfully carried out for many years.

Mrs. Chris Christenson died yesterday afternoon at her residence on Fourth street of consumption.

The Methodist ladies are preparing for another social.

The large number of strangers and the unusual bustle of the real estate fraternity yesterday reminded one of former exciting times. That West Duluth is waking up, and that there is a decided movement in realty circles is a pleasing fact. Prices on Central avenue are going up and one real estate firm was offered $11,000 yesterday for a double corner on Central avenue and Second street, north, and several offers were made of $5000 for inside lots, but the owners refused to let them go.

The outlook is particularly bright for a building boom, and this, in connection, with the many necessary public improvements, will make the season a good one.

Erickson & Frey yesterday paid $6000 for lot 12 in block 12, on Central avenue. The new store building of W. C. Sherwood on Central avenue is rapidly nearing completion.

A Double Birthday Party.

A joint birthday party was given at Mrs. L. L. Hood's, 1507 West Superior street, yesterday afternoon and evening, being the anniversary of Miss Edna, youngest daughter of Mrs. Hood, and also the natal day of John F. Morrissey, a personal friend of the Hoods. In the afternoon a number of Miss Edna's friends were invited, after which supper was served. In the evening a large gathering assembled, and it was not long before the merry party were busily indulging in games. The parlors were brilliantly lighted and the hostess exerted herself to please. The birthday of two of the parties occurred today, and the most of those present stayed till midnight so as to witness the four birthdays. It was a merry crowd. During the evening refreshments were served and some valuable presents were left.

Those present in the evening were: Rev. E. E. Tyson, State Grain Inspector J. C. Hammond and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown, Mrs. L. L. Hood, Mrs. Bronson, Grain Inspector Poore, S. G. Wightman, Mr. Jeff, J. B. Dye, R. Magness, R. D. King, Wilbur Matthews, John Discomette, Geo. H. Angus, Frank Eger, Geo. Stevens, Roy Hood, Mr. Girard, Miss Gould, principal of Adams school; Miss Clara Brimthwaite and Miss Mary, teachers at Adams school; Lizzy McKay, Bessie Tach, Anna McKee, Miss Clinch, Fay Hood. In the afternoon were: Dana Cox, Mabel Cox, Myrtle Brown, Margaret Clark, Margaret Jones, Aggie McIntyre, Mary Anderson, Roy Hood, Granston Brown, John Jones, Humphrey Jones.

TEXAS FARM LANDS

At present valuation will make men rich during the next few years. The most conservative admit the truth of this assertion.

It is now known that the first wheat land in the world and suitable for all small grains and fruits and in the best location.

In North and West Texas Texas farmers have an enormous home market as well as Twenty Thousand Miles of Railroad and Ocean Outlet for their surplus crops. Here farmers are able to have now for sale good agricultural lands for from one to ten acres per acre, according to location, on grass from January to January. They are in Kansas and in the north-west are selling wherever country they have in their farms, buying the cheap lands of Texas. And in many instances clearing the price of the land from their first year's crops. The latest census shows that few farmers in Texas have better farms mortgaged. The Texas State Bank is the largest of any commonwealth in the United States, aggregating in cash and bonds some $100,000,000. State taxes are ten cents on the hundred dollars.

Eastern Money Lenders in Present
Very Chary of Loaning in Min-

Lewis J. Merritt, senior member of the firm of L. J. Merritt & Son, has just returned from a two months' trip through the East, accompanied by W. H. Crafts, a widely known financier of Cleveland, Ohio, and George Hualali, of Jamestown, N. Y., well known as a manufacturer of high grade worsted goods. Merritt & Son have been negotiating for some time with these parties to establish a large worsted mill at the head of the lakes with a capacity of 275 to 300 operatives. Negotiations will undoubtedly be consummated before Messrs. Crafts and Hualali return to the East.

This plant will employ a capital of from $300,000 to $500,000. As soon as a site is determined on the company will erect several brick buildings, the main structure being 150 by 100 feet, four stories high, and others covering an area of nearly 30,000 square feet. The plant will have a frontage of 252 feet.

It is possible, with the co-operation of the people of Duluth to secure this valuable acquisition to our manufacturing interests on this side of the bay, although extremely liberal inducements were offered from the outside. If the same inducements can be offered on this side there will be no difficulty in locating this plant in Duluth. No one can fail to see the great advantage of having this plant here.

Mr. Merritt has also secured parties who may come here with one of the largest tanneries and belt factories west of Chicago. The most interesting feature of this project will be in the city in a few weeks.

Concerning his trip Mr. Merritt says he has secured parties who offer to furnish capital to build and equip the Duluth, Mead & Northern to the iron fields. The building of this plant will probably be followed by the erection of large furnaces and rolling mills which will consume a great deal of ore. "The best and most abundant supplies of this road and the establishment of these mills and furnaces, mean an addition to the population of Duluth of 25,000 and the output of the city will be good. Capitalists, however, are decidedly chary about making investments in Minnesota until the interest bill now being discussed is settled. There is no doubt that the passage of this bill would have a most pernicious effect on our Eastern business. The withdrawal of large sums of money now invested here and prevent much new capital from coming here.

Merritt & Son are working hard to bring to our city important manufacturing industries, and it is hoped that their citizens will evince no hesitation in giving substantial aid in getting these valuable plants located here.

THE DECISION.

Full Text of the Important Land Decision
Just Made by the Supreme Court.

The Herald publishes below the full text of Judge Loomis' findings in the case of Crombie vs. Little & Bull, a case that involves large interests, and is, because it is a test case and a knock-down argument against the land title shenanigans who have far too much infested Duluth, of great importance.

The first objection is evidently the result of the most careful study, settles the title of all of Highland Park and East Lanes additions to Duluth in favor of the owners, C. E. Dickerman, of St. Paul; P. S. Easton, of New York, and Richardson, Day & Co., of Duluth, and those who have purchased from them. It was brought by them to force an issue and smoke out the cloud made by Little & Bull.

District Court, St. Louis county, ss. State of Minnesota, ss. Robert Crombie, plaintiff, vs. Wm. H. Little and J. W. Bull, defendants.

In this action brought by the plaintiff against the defendants, the court, without a jury, made and filed the following findings of fact and conclusions of law, to wit:

WORLD OF COMMERCE.

Cash Wheat and Future on the Duluth Market.

MONEY MARKETS IN THE EAST.

Leading Speculative Commodities in All the Leading Markets of the World.

The market ruled dull today in futures, which opened at 1/16 off from yesterday's close. Wheat on track has been quite active, the mill taking a large amount today for manufacture into flour. Wheat on track sold in the forenoon at 1/16 off from yesterday's price. In the afternoon it gained ground and advanced 1/16 over the opening figures. The price current states that the snow has protected the winter wheat during the freezing weather of the past week. The reports of damage are by no means probable. The heavy snows all over the country are the very best possible happening for winter wheat. Continental advices as to damages were regarded as overdone. The general situation of the market is very quiet. There was very little done in May wheat here today, although it generally rules the favorite. The local shipments of wheat by rail were considerably above the average. Futures managed to hold their own in the matter of price, as compared with the opening, although the feeling was weaker than yesterday. The close was at 3/4 to 1/2 below yesterday's figures all around. No. 1 northern wheat on track sold at 88c in the forenoon and late in the session went as high as 89 1/2c. No. 2 northern sold at 86c. June No. 1 northern wheat sold at $1.01 1/4 early in the session. May No. 1 northern sold early at $1.00 1/4.

The closing prices today were as follows:

	Cash	1/2c	1/4c	1/8c	1/16c
No. 1 hard	100	100 1/2	100 1/4	100 1/8	100 1/16

A Progressive Road.

"The Northwestern Line," Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railway, always looking after the comforts of its patrons, and endeavoring to secure the best service for Duluth and the people at the head of the lake, has taken another step in advance of its competitors.

Commencing the 19th of March, two new sleepers will be placed on the Duluth-Chicago run. The Wagner vestibule buffet sleeper "Belgrade" and the Pullman car "Maywood."

These cars are handsomely fitted up with the latest of the car builders' art, and in addition to all the models, improvements, and equipment with the celebrated Pullman gas.

These cars run on the Chicago limited, the fastest and finest train between Duluth and all points East via Chicago. This train, leaving Duluth daily via "The Northwestern Line," at 4:30 p. m., arrives at Milwaukee, 7:25 a. m., Chicago, 9 a. m.

No extra fare for limited train service and fast time.

The Western Settler's Chosen Specific.

With every advance of civilization to the far West, a new demand is created for Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The newly populated regions are frequently less salubrious than older settled localities, on account of the miasmata which rise from recently cleared land, particularly along the banks of rivers that are subject to freshets. The agricultural or mining immigrant soon learns, when he does not already know, that the Bitters afford the only sure protection against malaria, and those disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels to which climatic changes, exposure and unaccustomed or unhealthy water or diet subject him. Consequently he places an estimate upon this great household specific and preventive commensurate with its intrinsic merits, and is careful to keep on hand a restorative and promoter of health, so implicitly to be relied upon in time of need.

What Professor Winchell Can Do if He Has Money for Publication.

The series of articles from the bulletin of Professor Winchell on the iron interests of the state, which have been reprinted in The Herald from the Minneapolis Journal, have attracted wide spread attention. Professor Winchell has been in receipt of letters from many different parts of the United States referring to the articles and making inquiries as to when the printed bulletin would be issued. There is a great demand for the bulletin, as it is the most complete and exhaustive work of its kind ever issued in America. But there are many who want copies who will be unable to obtain them for the reason that there is not money available to have them printed.

The work which has been done by Professor Winchell is of incalculable value to the state. The publication of this series of articles and the issuance of the bulletin itself will still further stimulate the interest in this Northern iron region, so rich, so extensive, so important. The Herald has frequently shown the immense magnitude of the iron interests of Minnesota, and Professor Winchell in his bulletin has put scientific emphasis upon the same fact. The initiative has only been taken. There is need of large appropriations in order that the work which has been so well begun may not now waste and die. Professor Winchell has been working for five long years in this field. He has a vast amount of manuscript material which awaits publication. It is a matter of practical value to the state. Winchell says he has been unable to publish it for the simple reason that there was nothing with which to pay for the publishing.

Not only is it important that this mass of material be printed, but there should be a complete and reliable geological survey of the whole northern part of the state. To make this survey, prepare maps and do all the work attached to such an enterprise means the expenditure of thousands of dollars, but anyone who has an adequate idea of the extent and importance of Minnesota's mining interests must concede that it is not only important but imperative that this survey be made. Said Professor Winchell in Minneapolis yesterday:

"There is no money available for the survey. The last spring fund has all been exhausted and is in debt to the university fund $15,000. The expense of surveying and mapping the northern part of the state is naturally much greater than in the southern part. The outline interests of the northern part have increased wonderfully, and with the aid of a survey map of a reliable nature can be made which will result in a saving of much money. The point is made, too, that it is due the northern part of the state that this survey be made of a part of the state which is of immense and growing importance in the light of what has been and is being discovered in the iron country."

One proposition which has been made is to appropriate $12,000 per year for two or three years in order that this work may be carried on and not dropped. The matter has been brought to the attention of some of the legislators. This appropriation is not asked for the sake of bolstering up some wild and reckless scheme for the spending of the state's money, but it is asked for the state itself, and in order that the people of the state may reap the benefit.

The outline interests of the northern part have increased wonderfully, and with the aid of a survey map of a reliable nature can be made which will result in a saving of much money. The point is made, too, that it is due the northern part of the state that this survey be made of a part of the state which is of immense and growing importance in the light of what has been and is being discovered in the iron country."

One proposition which has been made is to appropriate $12,000 per year for two or three years in order that this work may be carried on and not dropped. The matter has been brought to the attention of some of the legislators. This appropriation is not asked for the sake of bolstering up some wild and reckless scheme for the spending of the state's money, but it is asked for the state itself, and in order that the people of the state may reap the benefit.

The State Survey.

What Professor Winchell Can Do if He Has Money for Publication.

The series of articles from the bulletin of Professor Winchell on the iron interests of the state, which have been reprinted in The Herald from the Minneapolis Journal, have attracted wide spread attention. Professor Winchell has been in receipt of letters from many different parts of the United States referring to the articles and making inquiries as to when the printed bulletin would be issued. There is a great demand for the bulletin, as it is the most complete and exhaustive work of its kind ever issued in America. But there are many who want copies who will be unable to obtain them for the reason that there is not money available to have them printed.

The work which has been done by Professor Winchell is of incalculable value to the state. The publication of this series of articles and the issuance of the bulletin itself will still further stimulate the interest in this Northern iron region, so rich, so extensive, so important. The Herald has frequently shown the immense magnitude of the iron interests of Minnesota, and Professor Winchell in his bulletin has put scientific emphasis upon the same fact. The initiative has only been taken. There is need of large appropriations in order that the work which has been so well begun may not now waste and die. Professor Winchell has been working for five long years in this field. He has a vast amount of manuscript material which awaits publication. It is a matter of practical value to the state. Winchell says he has been unable to publish it for the simple reason that there was nothing with which to pay for the publishing.

Not only is it important that this mass of material be printed, but there should be a complete and reliable geological survey of the whole northern part of the state. To make this survey, prepare maps and do all the work attached to such an enterprise means the expenditure of thousands of dollars, but anyone who has an adequate idea of the extent and importance of Minnesota's mining interests must concede that it is not only important but imperative that this survey be made. Said Professor Winchell in Minneapolis yesterday:

"There is no money available for the survey. The last spring fund has all been exhausted and is in debt to the university fund $15,000. The expense of surveying and mapping the northern part of the state is naturally much greater than in the southern part. The outline interests of the northern part have increased wonderfully, and with the aid of a survey map of a reliable nature can be made which will result in a saving of much money. The point is made, too, that it is due the northern part of the state that this survey be made of a part of the state which is of immense and growing importance in the light of what has been and is being discovered in the iron country."

One proposition which has been made is to appropriate $12,000 per year for two or three years in order that this work may be carried on and not dropped. The matter has been brought to the attention of some of the legislators. This appropriation is not asked for the sake of bolstering up some wild and reckless scheme for the spending of the state's money, but it is asked for the state itself, and in order that the people of the state may reap the benefit.

RECEIVERS' NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been duly appointed receiver of all the property, rights and claims of the Duluth Herald company, pursuant to the provisions of chapter 146 of the general laws of the state of Minnesota, for the year 1891, and the acts amendatory thereof, including the name, subscription list, patronage, and all other assets of every kind of said Duluth Herald company.

All persons indebted to said Duluth Herald company are required to render an account of all debts and sums of money owing by them, and to pay the same to said receiver by the 15th day of April, 1891, and all persons having in their possession property or effects of any nature or description belonging to said Duluth Herald company, are required to forthwith deliver the same to said receiver, and all creditors of said company are to deliver their respective accounts and demands to said receiver on or before the 15th day of April, 1891.

Dated March 23rd, 1891.

PAUL SCHMIDT,
Receiver of the estate of the Duluth Herald company, insolvent, Duluth, Minn.

IN EXPLANATION.

Owing to the complications arising from the foreclosure of a certain mortgage held by Miron Bunnell upon a part of the Herald property, The Herald on Saturday was issued in a somewhat dilapidated condition. Today it comes out in spik-span new Sunday-go-to-meetin' clothes, and will hereafter appear as regularly as the sun, and with as bright a smile.

A good deal has been said and written, the latter especially by the interested parties in killing off The Herald, about the affair, so that a plain statement of facts is due to our readers, this being the first opportunity The Herald has had to make such explanation.

Miron Bunnell held a mortgage for some $13,000, covering certain parts of the plant of The Herald, among them the Associated Press franchise. The notes attending this mortgage were endorsed by M. B. Harrison, who originally bought the paper from Mr. Bunnell. Besides everything conveyed by this mortgage, however, The Herald owned the United Press franchise and a complete newspaper outfit—by far the largest and best ever in the city, viz: the plant of the former Times. Harrison, under the impression that his mortgage covered everything owned by The Herald company, and to put his special pets, Phillips & Buell (by the way, Duluth is indebted to Mr. Harrison for bringing these worthless titles to the first place) into possession of a daily paper, agreed to pay the notes due to Mr. Bunnell if he would foreclose the mortgage. Mr. Bunnell, having a new building on his hands, and being in position to make use of the money, agreed to do so.

The creditors of The Herald company thereupon investigated the situation to see what could be saved from the wreck. They found that, as above stated, there was a complete newspaper outfit left with the best afternoon franchise as well as the name, good will, subscription list, book accounts, etc. This they tried to save by having a receiver appointed to take care of it. Application was accordingly made. This move on the part of the creditors called the attention of the mortgagee to the fact that something would be left over and above the mortgage. To secure this, he prevailed upon the directors of The Herald company to make a voluntary assignment before the hearing for receiver could come up, and to designate an assignee who would do nothing in opposition to his (Harrison's) wishes. This was done last Monday, and Col. Stevenson was appointed assignee. Mr. Harrison appearing as his bondsman. Wednesday the mortgage sale took place. Mr. Harrison bidding it at $10,000, thus remaining a creditor for the balance of the mortgage, about $3,500. He at once made a sale of the plant to Phillips, Buell & Chipman (of the Tribune), who took possession of the fort. The first thing they proceeded to do was to walk off with the subscription books of The Herald, which Mr. Harrison personally took from the circulation by force, and conveyed them to the Tribune office, the circulation justly considering that the books belonged to the assignee. They then proceeded to get the advertising contracts and the account books of the company, in which attempt they were foiled. They put in their force of editors, etc., and proceeded to publish the Herald. This was on Friday.

The creditors in the meantime had not been idle. Most of the outside creditors were represented by attorneys here, Smith & Lewis, White, Reynolds & Schmidt, Mahon & Howard and others. These, combined with home creditors, representing $250,000 out of a total of about $250,000, petitioned the court to set aside the assignee and appoint a receiver, who would take charge of affairs. The court granted the request and Saturday afternoon appointed the undersigned receiver. No sooner was this done when the worthies in charge at The Herald office gave up the very point for which they had been contending and of their own accord changed the name Herald to "Post" and announced that The Herald was dead.

It wasn't though.

It was in fact beginning to show uncomfortable signs of rather vigorous life. The new receiver upon hearing what they were up to at once proceeded to get out an edition of The Herald, and though it was already 4 o'clock p. m. had The Herald out on the street on sale by 6 o'clock, before even the new creation, The Post, had been born. The Herald was not a very creditable production to be sure, the inside consisted of editorial and miscellany which Phillips & Buell had already printed under the old caption before they decided to change the name; the outside consisted of two pages of Saturday morning's News, which had kindly been put at the disposal of the receiver by Mr. Bowen. It was printed on the News press and though rather a unique production was nevertheless a Herald containing a legal notice which was necessary and sufficient not to break the continuous publication of The Herald. Every newspaper in the city sided with The Herald, and although the enemy tried every conceivable method to bribe they stood by their chosen flag like loyal soldiers. Yesterday morning the compositors and union printers were on hand bright and early—a room in the basement of the Herald building was put into order, the Times plant, which was stored in another part of the building, was carried in, stands and cases put in order, type distributed, and tonight The Herald appears new and feeling very comfortable, thank you.

For the present we have rather imperfect telegraphic service as The Herald was obliged for some time past to discontinue the use of the United Press service "owing to the stringency in the money market." Negotiations are now in progress for resuming the service and The Herald will soon be as newsy telegraphically as ever. We trust our readers will judge leniently in this respect for a short time. Our advertisers will find their advertisements in their accustomed places. Should any have been omitted we hope the advertiser will let us know at once, that it may be corrected and proper credit be given for missed insertions.

EARL SOMMER.

TO SUBSCRIBERS AND ADVERTISERS.

The would-be newspaper wreckers, Phillips & Buell, attempted to steal The Herald, body and soul, and would probably have succeeded if the paper had not been saved at the last moment. They stole the subscription book of The Herald, have made a copy of it and will in all probability attempt to deliver their new edition, the Duluth Evening Post, to Herald subscribers and try to collect The Herald subscriptions. The Post is an entirely new paper, as separate and distinct from The Herald as a grocery store, is in no way connected with it, and has absolutely no right to the subscription, advertising or other accounts of The Herald. The Herald has never stopped and will continue to be published as regularly as heretofore, and all subscription accounts should be paid only at The Herald office, 113 Lake avenue south, or to The Herald circulators, Jacob and George Lutz, or The Herald collector, J. A. Milne. No one else is authorized to collect any money or account whatever for the present. We trust our subscribers will not allow themselves to be imposed upon by these shameless impostors, and if in doubt about the payment, to withhold same until satisfied as to the legality of the claim presented.

THE LIBRARY FUND.

There is one recommendation in the recent message of the mayor to the common council that seems to have escaped general notice, viz: that a branch library be established at the West End out of the public funds. Just why the West End should have a public library of its own will not appear quite clear to most people. It certainly is all right to furnish that part of the city with streets, sidewalks, electric lights and other necessary conveniences, but it would be the highest folly to sustain a separate library there.

Every dollar that can be obtained for books should be spent in increasing the present library, which, although very acceptable after all these weary years of waiting, is indeed small enough. Were the mayor's recommendations adopted many of the books in the present library would be duplicated, and but a poor choice could be had at either end of town. We cannot have too large a library and we cannot increase it too rapidly.

In the past the feeling that the West End and the East End and the central portion of the city did not have identical interests has been too prevalent. When we can dispense with this jealousy and all pull together we can accomplish more towards making Duluth the first city, not only of Minnesota, but of the entire Northwest.

It has been proposed, and the proposition seems an excellent one, that a library room be secured at the west end, an attendant be employed and telephone connection had with the main library. In this room could be kept files of magazines and a few books of reference, and those who did not wish to go to the central library might leave orders for books which could be secured by telephone and taken to the branch building at some specified time every day.

Duluth Tribune: Morally they were certainly entitled to whatever good will and patronage The Herald possessed, but by the technicalities of the law they could not insist upon it. * * * The old Herald company, composed of the same gentlemen who are now printing a paper in the name of The Herald, sunk into the fathomless recess of the deep over $14,000 in little less than a year. * * * And now these newspaper kings are continuing the publication of this same newspaper without a franchise, for the benefit of the creditors. * * * Some things make a man laugh, and some things make a horse laugh, but The Tribune thinks that men and horses will both laugh at this amusing spectacle.

The titles are ours. The public will agree that horses and men will laugh at the spectacle of Phillips & Buell (Mr. Chipman has not shown his hand yet, but as he trails with these fellows it must be that these fellows have of the same stripe) taken for granted his lot of the same stripe—that these fellows will claim anything on moral grounds. PLAN TO WORK LOGGERS

The Weyerhaeuser Syndicate After Bills in the Wisconsin Legislature to Control South Shore Streams.

It Will Begin on Iron River and Put a Prohibitive Tax on Logs Coming Down Stream.

Duluth Lumbermen About Through Work in the Woods: The Result of the Season's Cut.

There has just been introduced into the Wisconsin legislature a bill that all lumbermen interested in the future of the head of the lakes, as well as all industrial men hereabouts, without regard to state or city lines, should do their utmost to defeat.

The bill is a mildly worded affair and apparently contains no woodchuck. It gives Pat Hines, a logger well known to all head of the lakes firms, the right to improve iron river on the south shore, and to charge toll for logs running down the stream. The toll is so arranged, however, that logs must pay the outrageous charges of $1.00 1,000 feet before they get to the booming grounds at the mouth of the stream. Such a charge is prohibitive and clearly bars out all log owners not interested in the death of their own log.

Who is back of Mr. Hines? The "Weyerhaeuser crowd," headed of course by the "pine land king," Fred Weyerhaeuser, with its millions and its capacity for covering everything it touches, is the party for whom Hines is at work. The Weyerhaeuser people have bought a very large amount of pine on iron river and if this bill becomes a law will get the rest without paying it. All iron river pine is naturally tributary to the head of the lake, and in the usual course of events is sawed at Duluth. It would all come to St. Louis by the usual course of events, but it would be carried by one big syndicate, but it is not half so sure to as if it was free.

The Weyerhaeuser people are also owners of pine on other south shore streams, and if they can work this deal on iron river, why not on Brule, Poul, Amnicon, Middle and the rest?

From Timber Camps. Huntress & Brown broke one of their camps today and close the other soon. They have in their full expected stock about 7,000,000 feet, and are building a dam on the Brule above the Northern Pacific crossing. Both camps are on this stream.

If the weather holds for this week Mitchell & McClure will have in all the stock they expect to save this year, 7,000,000 feet. It will be enough, Manager Dickson says, to "brighten up with in the fall."

Fishers for Duncan, Brewer & Co. have about completed their work and are breaking camp. Nearly 20,000,000 feet of cut and the mill is expected to be ready by the time the rivers break up.

Pie driving for the mill and dock work on the office of the Merrill & Ring mill property is being pushed rapidly. The firm will have one gang, one band and one circular mill, and has let its contract for machinery. It will do no sawing before 1892.

Duncan, Brewer & Co. are getting a lot of logs from a camp on the Eastern Minnesota. They are dumped on the ice on Rice's Point.

Scott & Holston are about through in the woods with a cut of nearly 7,000,000 feet. About 1,000,000 feet additional is being hauled to the mill from back of town.

R. A. Gray will cut 5,000,000 feet for himself in addition to the 12,000,000 feet he has contracted to cut for the Cranberry company.

Both Clonnet companies are out of the woods with a cut of about 9,000,000 feet, including held-over logs. Stock is very dear in the St. Louis, and indications are for big water on the drive.

THE FISHERMEN

And the Fish at the Local United States Hatchery.

The Duluth fishermen had their annual meeting Saturday evening. The fishing business has been productive enough to enable the fishermen to come through the season out of debt. Thirty-six boats have been fishing, and the catch of white fish, lake trout and herring has been good.

The fishermen realize the benefits of organization and claim that during the season of 1891 they will have contracts for fish before fishing, or no fish, will be delivered. They rejoice in being able to pull through the winter free from indebtedness.

Out of a consignment of 5,000,000 lake trout eggs received last November, about 4,800,000 were hatched yesterday. Nearly all the 100,000,000 white fish in the hatchery will be hatched in the next three weeks. These will be planted as soon as possible, but the trout will be kept all summer. About 200,000 of the white pike will be hatched during summer.

THE TRADES COUNCIL

Will Fight Rat Papers to the Last Ditch.

At its yesterday's meeting the Trades and Labor assembly talked over the newspaper situation—thereby carrying on what has been in everybody's mind for the past few days. It didn't take long for the assembly to come to a decision, and the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"The Evening Post is an offshoot of the Tribune and starts out by employing unionism or 'sen' workmen. People who patronize the Post or the Tribune cannot expect to receive the patronage of organized labor. Both papers are opposed to organized labor. It follows that organized labor should be opposed to them."

A committee was appointed to inform all Duluth unions of the action. It was also decided to solicit subscriptions in the aid of distressed miners in Pennsylvania and of the locked-out employees of the Clark O. N. T. Thread company. It was voted to urge that all public contracts be let to Duluth firms, from black books up. Considerable other minor business was done.

"A Parlor Match." The pioneers of farce comedy, Evans and Hoy, have a two night's engagement at the Temple next Monday and Tuesday, presenting their reconstructed version "A Parlor Match." While it would last summer Evans and Hoy secured a number of novelties, the most notable being the three English sisters Seavey, a trio who sing and play the mandolins beautifully. "A Parlor Match" without a topical song would not be complete, so Mr. Hoy has on this season entitled "They're After Me," which expresses all his other efforts.

The Court. The usual probate row of Monday morning drinks was arranged in the municipal court this morning and paid $12 each and three went up. E. Kriz was fined $22.50 for assault in the third degree. Torsen Hatten, of Atkin, was arraigned on a charge of bastardy by Maria Johnson, of West Duluth. His trial was set for tomorrow at 2 p. m.

SARA IS COMING.

The Bernhardt Will be a Duluth Attraction This Summer.

Duluth theater goers will hope that negotiations, now almost closed, with the manager of Sara Bernhardt by which that noted French woman will be a Duluth attraction next summer, will be successfully completed. Manager Condon has received contracts from the Bernhardt manager guaranteeing to play at each Duluth and Superior one night for a total subscription of $50,000. It is understood that half of this money is already raised. Should Bernhardt play here she will appear in Superior in the Grand Opera, of course, and in Duluth in the Lyceum.

Declared a Dividend.

At a meeting of the directors of the Imperial Mill company, held Saturday afternoon, a semi-annual dividend was declared, payable after April 15. The mill has been in operation a year and a half and this is the third semi-annual distribution of profits. While the two former dividends have been 4 per cent each, this is to be 5 per cent, and the amount already put to surplus is several times the amount of the dividends. The mill now has on hand nearly 30,000 barrels of flour, which it is holding till navigation opens, and has already chartered the steamer Stevens for a full cargo, 10,000 barrels, to go out as soon as she can get away. The boat will be loaded at once.

Round Table.

Below is the program for the meeting of the Round Table which will be held this evening at the Woodbridge building: General topic, "Merchant of Venice." Historical sketch—Rev. George H. Kemp. Characters of the play. Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" as illustrated by the play—Hon. Page Morris. Selected readings.

Chances. Of all men on the earth, the American is the most hopeful, energetic and self-reliant. As he would phrase it, he is a hustler, and all he wants is a chance. But the United States is now, more than ever, a country of good chances and great opportunities, not alone in the West, but South and Southwest. The Mississippi valley, the Rocky Mountain region, the golden Pacific Coast and the sunny plains of the South, are full of chances for ambitious young men, who are not afraid to work hard. To visit any of these sections of our country, "The Burlington" has long been the favorite route, reaching as it does the most important points in each of the best states and territories in the center of the continent, and by connecting lines being the short and direct route to all points, from Puget Sound to the Gulf of Mexico. Wherever you think of going, apply first for tickets to some agent of "The Burlington," or write for information to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

SMITH-FEE COMPANY

THE UNDERSIGNED PERSONS DESIRING to form a Corporation under the provisions of this chapter 3, of the General Statutes of the State of Minnesota, hereby publish the following articles:

Article 1. The name of this Corporation will be the Smith-Fee Company. The general nature of its business shall be to buy, own, hold, operate and sell any boats, steamships, docks, lighters and vessels of all descriptions, and to do a general freight and transportation business, and for constructing and operating docks and wharves, and for carrying on a general mercantile business, and for buying and selling real estate and for carrying on such other business as may be incidental to or required in their said business. The principal place of business of said Corporation shall be the City of Duluth, County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota.

Article 2. Time of commencement of this Corporation shall be the 1st day of February, A. D. 1891, and the same shall continue for the period of thirty years.

Article 3. The amount of capital stock of said Corporation shall be fifty thousand ($50,000) dollars, and shall be fully paid in.

Article 4. The names of the first board of directors of said Corporation shall be Edward S. Smith, John W. Fee, Fred W. Smith, Charles H. Edgerton, Robert H. Hunt and Watson S. Moore, all of Duluth, Minnesota.

Article 5. The names of the first board of directors of said Corporation shall be Edward S. Smith, John W. Fee, Fred W. Smith, Charles H. Edgerton, Robert H. Hunt and Watson S. Moore. And the consent of said Corporation shall be vested in a board of six directors, President, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and general manager; the same to be elected at the regular annual meeting of said Corporation, the 10th day of February of each and every year.

Article 6. The number of shares of said Corporation shall be five hundred (500) of the amount of one hundred ($100) dollars each. In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands and seals this 23rd day of February, A. D. 1891.

The West Duluth office of The Herald is in its old quarters, room 10, Silvey building, where all who want to see the Duluth representative, pay money or make kicks, can find satisfaction.

Council Proceedings.

Saturday evening the old council held its last meeting. A large amount of unfinished business was got through with. Harry Morgan handled in his resignation as chief of the fire department. A large number of bills were audited and allowed. The treasurer's salary was fixed at $150 for the past year. The treasurer's annual report was received and placed on file. Petition for sidewalk on Mississippi avenue referred to new council.

All regular business being concluded, President Gunniss made a short address, thanking the people for their assistance during the past year. The following resolution was then passed: "That the thanks of his associates and friends are hereby tendered President Gunniss for his ability and faithfulness in the discharge of his duties as president of the council."

The new officers were then called upon and were installed into office by the retiring president. After taking their seats the new council granted the G. A. R. the use of the city hall for a camp fire Tuesday evening, March 31, and then adjourned to April 4.

DULUTH DISTRICT.

The Size and Importance of the Duluth Public Land District as it Now Is.

The Richest, Though Not by Any Means the Largest, in all the National Domain.

What Is to Be Done About the Millions of Acres From the St. Cloud District.

recent report of the commissioner of the general land office, is the largest in Minnesota, comprising one-half of the public domain. There are over two dozen districts in the country that are larger than it, but some that are more rich in timber and minerals. Following are the figures in acres for the district by counties:

	Surveyed.	Unsurveyed.	Total Area
Aitkin	42,800	-----	42,800
Carlton	28,150	-----	28,150
Cook	434,350	108,250	542,600

Itasca.....	79,010	239,340	318,350
Lake.....	273,050	698,160	971,210
St. Louis.....	690,499	852,450	1,542,949
Total.....	1,546,515	1,889,950	3,435,795

The St. Cloud district comprises 2,215,596 acres, of which 1,779,280 acres are in Itasca and Beltrami counties—1,502,040 in the former and 277,240 in the latter.

The administration was recently requested by numerous interests to transfer the land in these two counties from the St. Cloud to the Duluth land district for the reason that it was more accessible from Duluth than from St. Cloud. The administration complied and the President

This seems quite a plausible argument at first but to be candid it amounts to nothing. The fact is the unoccupied government lands are getting farther and farther away from St. Cloud and she is not sending out new railroads by which to get better access. Duluth is surrounded on all sides by unoccupied government areas and into them. Beltrami and Itasca counties are today nearer to Duluth than to any other city in the state, and will always be easily reached from here, because the conditions of commerce will grow more and more in favor of Duluth. The people who want to settle on lands in those counties are chiefly from this section. At present they must go to St. Cloud in order to file on the land and then return to Duluth in order to get railroad facilities. At least calculation the unnecessary expense for railroad fare and hotel accommodation amounts to $20, in addition to which is

There can be but little doubt that the President will still make the change if he sees the facts as they are. Next year Grand Rapids expects to have the land office for all that part of the public land of which it is the center.

A GOOD SCHEME.

High School Students to be Addressed on Practical Topics.

Next Monday morning will be a well come one for many a Duluth mother who Superintendent Denfeld and Principals Critchett, of the High school, have recently decided to introduce an innovation.

that will commend itself to every citizen who has the welfare of the community at heart. Letters have been sent to several prominent gentlemen in various walks of life asking them if they cannot address the High school on practical topics selected by themselves. It is the intention to devote twenty minutes to such a program.

From time to time other citizens will be asked to assist the project. Doctors, lawyers, aldermen, real estate men, clergymen, newspaper men—in fact men in every department of activity will be asked give addresses. That the innovation w be a success is not to be questioned.

PRESENTATION OF PRIZES.

Medals Given Last Night With an E
cellent Program.

The hall was crowded last evening witness the awarding of the medals which have been so warmly contested for during the past three months, at the Y. M. C. gymnasium. The program as published was fully carried out and in addition ing over the backs of eight boys. The Shrogran brothers charmed the audience with their guitars and were encored. Rev. George G. Kemp in a pleasant way dwelt on the excellent results derived from athletic exercise, and congratulated the physical director and the committee.

E. W. Matter as chairman of the gymnastics committee, then presented the medals, in a happy speech. Julius Barnes received the first prize, gold medal, L. M. Larson the second prize, silver medal and Sidney McPhail the third.

BLOOD MONEY.

The Duluth Gas and Water company was so well pleased with the report of the two experts that it gladly paid money to the three-day-old evening paper to print it in full. There was nothing wrong in this. It was remarkable, however, how eagerly that paper lent its editorial columns to the water company for the tooling of the latter's horn. "Anything to make it unnecessary for us to move our pumping plant or extend our intake pipe" was, and ever shall be the motto of the corporation that is responsible for the death of the flower of Duluth's youth.

This paper covered its editorial page last night with the announcement that the city water is absolutely pure. Perhaps the specimens examined were pure and perhaps they were not. Admit that there was no collusion with the gas and water company and we still have the fact that as eminent a specialist as those who made the report found enough bacteria in another sample of Duluth water to kill a rat, and that still another found the water unfit to make beer of, except as boiled, because of sewerage sediment.

If 999 tests show pure water and one test impure water, who is then trusted enough to say that the source of both is not impure? No one but the Duluth Gas and Water company and its hirelings.

AN EXPERT OPINION.

In January last, J. H. Biles, a member of the council of the British Institute of Naval Architects, visited the United States and examined some of the new ships of our navy, and also took a look into our gun foundries. He was very favorably impressed with what he saw, and at the time of his visit was free in the expression of compliments over our rapid progress in naval architecture, shipbuilding and gun construction.

Comments on such occasions are not always just what they seem, but Mr. Biles was sincere, for at a recent meeting of naval architects in London he read a paper on the navy of the United States in which he expressed surprise at its well-organized condition. He declared that the new steel ships of our navy are equal to England's best, and that the armament is more powerful than that of any ships of the same classes in Europe. Mr. Biles said the American builders had to sacrifice speed and room for fuel to further their designs, but he had to confess, nevertheless, that the fastest English cruiser is slower than the fastest American war ship of the same class.

This compliment from a high British authority is gratifying. We all have unbounded confidence in American skill and genius, but we like to see our genius acknowledged, just the same.

LET US HAVE THE INCLINE.

The present status of the incline resulting from the negotiations between the incline railway people and Seventh avenue property owners is one of greater moment to the city than appears on the surface. For the past five years rumors have been current almost every week to the effect that the incline railway back of the business center was to be made accessible by means of an incline road. Nearly two and one-half years ago open announcement was made by parties most interested that the road would be built on Seventh avenue and in the News annual for 1890 appears the statement that the material for the railway had been ordered and the road would be open in the following spring. Time slipped away and the date set for opening the road had come and gone without a stroke of work being done. Recently an ordinance was passed by the council extending the time in which the work is to be done. It is impossible to have the road running before August and the probabilities are that the scheme will fail altogether. And why? Simply because the people who are to receive the greatest benefit are unwilling to render assistance. It is to be deplored that there is not enough public spirit to bring about the consummation of this needed improvement—but who is really to blame? It is undoubtedly the street railway company. That corporation was promised this thing by Tom and that by Harry and took the rest for granted. When some of the work had been accomplished the company found that the line would cost more than anticipated because some property owners would collect damages while others would not part with lands needed. The trouble all lies in the negligence to obtain promises in writing instead of by word of mouth. If the street car company had taken lesson by its own course in making promises to a much afflicted people it would have known that promises amount to nothing of themselves.

So much for the past. What of the future? Duluth cannot afford to let this incline railway vanish as the mist. If it were merely a matter of causing people to build houses in other parts of the town, perhaps it would be as well to drop the scheme. But many people will not go two or three or four miles away to secure a location for a home. They cannot afford the expense of transportation or the time to ride back and forth. They will, then, betake themselves to places where quick transportation is not such a vexing problem. Duluth's hill is no obstacle to her growth, provided an incline is built. It behooves all citizens who can, without injury to themselves, remove impediments to the incline scheme to do so.

A BRIGHTER OUTLOOK.

The action of Post, Martin & Co., the large New York bankers, in suing the Minnesota Iron Car company for breach of contract, which action was begun yesterday, is a welcome piece of news. It means that the entanglements that have surrounded this company for so long are to be settled and the Andersons to be succeeded by more vigorous managers.

If the deal now being worked succeeds the Minnesota Iron Car company, under closer connection with its New York ally, the Equipment company will go on with abundance of capital and an assured business. Let us all hope it will do so.

A concerted action is to be taken by owners of pine lands, stone quarries, etc., on Iron river to protest against the bill now before the Wisconsin legislature. The bill was exploited in The Herald Monday and has created a good deal of stir.

The secretary of the treasury has issued an order declaring that the purchase and possession of a United States liquor license or permit of any description will not justify the holder in selling liquors in those states where prohibitory laws exist.

Such a local institution as that of Scott & Holston is a decided credit to Duluth. It is worthy of note that these old fashioned manufacturers never asked a bonus nor entered a land scheme. In fact there is only one bonused institution that has ever located in Duluth that has been worth a paper of pins to the town. Bonuses and Jonasses, so to speak. Nevertheless The Herald hopes proper encouragement will be given the business-like and excellent manufacturers of worsteds from Jamestown, N. Y., who are now looking over the town. We want them here.

Perhaps our alliance friends who object to the McKinley bill will explain to the farmer the rise in beef and pork and in corn, oats, hay and wheat, and the drop in sugar. Perhaps these things are like the beginning of the world, chance. But then again perhaps they are in part the result of wise legislation.

The Duluth Daily Union last night said: Phillips & Baell have erred posed as the friends of the Typographical union and have been loud in their protestations that they had all along advised Chipman not to "rat" the Tribune office. No one believed they were sincere, of course, but it was thought they had better sense than to start in on the publication of a "rat" sheet in Duluth without a single subscriber or a line of advertising. Perhaps they look for "blood money."

New York is apparently determined to recover the eminence which it formerly enjoyed as the great cattle mart of the United States. Extensive and costly improvements are being made at Jersey City cattle-pens and slaughter-houses of the Central Stockyards and Transit company. When completed they will render New York a point of vantage for the dressed beef trade which Chicago can hardly hope to rival.

The Post tribe are resorting to the ruse of following up The Herald carriers, leaving the Post at the same place and claiming that the Post took the place of The Herald. Herald subscribers need pay no attention whatever to this game. If the Post people want to leave their paper at every house in the city they, of course, have a perfect right to do so—whether the owners or tenants want to subscribe for the paper is another matter.

Of far greater value than money is health; therefore, for coughs and colds use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the infallible remedy. Price twenty-five cents.

A Progressive Road.

"The Northwestern Line," Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railway, always looking after the comforts of its patrons, and endeavoring to secure the best service for Duluth and the people at the head of the lakes, has taken another step in advance of its competitors.

Commencing the 16th of March, two new sleepers will be placed on the Duluth-Chicago run. The Wagner vestibuled buffet sleeper "Belgrade" and the Pullman car "Maywood."

These cars are handsomely fitted up models of the car builders' art and in addition to all the latest improvements, are equipped with the celebrated Pintsch gas. These cars run on the Chicago limited, the finest and fastest train between Duluth and all points East via Chicago. This train, leaving Duluth daily via "The Northwestern Line," at 4:30 p. m., arrives at Milwaukee, 7:25 a. m.; Chicago, 9 a. m.

No extra fare for limited train service and fast time.

SOME APRIL MAGAZINES.

The "Progress of the World," the editorial review of contemporary events which has proven so popular a feature of the Review of Reviews, will not only be preserved in the American edition, but much timely and valuable matter from the pen of Dr. Albert Shaw, the editor of the Review of Reviews, will be added. The forthcoming April number, which inaugurates the American edition, will present many unusually attractive features. It is but fourteen months since W. T. Stead, the brilliant English journalist, established in London his Review of Reviews. Already it has attained a circulation of over 150,000 copies.

Atlantic Monthly for April has the following contents: "The Brazen Android," by the late William Douglas O'Connor; "Xoto, An Unexplored Corner of Japan," is continued; as is Francis Parkman's "The Capture of Louisbourg by the New England Militia"; "Preliminary Man on the Pacific Coast," by Prof. George Fredrick Wright, of Oberlin; "The Armenians and the Porte," by S. S. W. Benjamin; "Goethe's Key to Faust," by W. P. Andrews, and the continuation of Frank Stockton's "House of Monks," complete the parts of poetry. Clinton Scollard, Thomas William Parsons, Thomas S. Collier and William H. Hayne are contributors. The annual reviews, and a bright Contributors club close the number.

The Arena is a superb number, and as it grows older it becomes more and more the moral standard bearer of its brave editor, who is making a war on sin and license that deserves the hearty support of all good men and women. Its contents, outside of the editorial notes, hot from the heart, are as follows: "Philosophy of the Future," G. W. Winterburn, M. D.; "Crooked Taxation," Thos. G. Shearman; "Concerning a Pessimistic Meddler in Hypnotism," H. G. Mason; "Buddhism in the New Testament," Professor J. T. Bixby; "Morality and Environment," A. D. Vinson; "Alexander Hamilton," E. P. Johnson; "Nationalization of Land as First Presented," Professor J. Rodes Buchanan; "Nationalism and Individualism," Charles D. Brannagh; "The Heart of Old Hickory," "The Morning Cometh."

Harpers Monthly is a notable number indeed. Its table of contents is exceptionally bright and pleasant. It opens with an extensively readable paper on "The French Army," beautifully illustrated. W. S. Vines writes of Wisconsin; a noted bacteriologist describes and illustrates the science and methods of his profession, giving an article that will be of special interest locally, and Minister Phelps writes a very important discussion of the Bering sea question. These are the leading articles and they are followed by the usual selection of stories, poetry and the book reviews which are such a looked for feature of Harpers.

Two extra supplements are given with the Illustrated American. In one is reproduced the account of the rise of the Mafia and of its crimes in Italy and the United States, which was published last October. The other is a cartoon by Nast on the vital subject of the responsibility of railroad directors for accidents. Chauncey M. Depew is seen making a speech over a banquet table from under which project several coffins.

There will be a camp fire at Knights of Pythias hall in the Hayes block this evening. It will be a union social of the three orders, G. A. R., Sons of Veterans and the Woman's Relief corps.

Tomorrow night the Knights of Rose Croix will hold their annual banquet at their rooms. Previous to the banquet the eighteenth degree will be conferred on several candidates.

Members of the Allegro club are making extensive preparations for their concert at Turner hall, April 2. Good talent has been secured and they promise a first-class entertainment.

Professor Daniel DeLeon, of New York, will lecture in Ingalls hall next Monday evening and in Normanna hall on Tuesday evening on "Socialism, its Reasons, Methods and Ends." Admission is free.

County School Superintendent Sultz says that the citizens of Cananda, near Rice lake, will petition the county commissioners at their next meeting for a new school district. It will be known as No. 15.

Judge Esquin this morning granted a divorce to Felix Bruun from his wife on the ground of desertion. The testimony was to show that the wife had been absent from her husband for eight or nine years.

Signor Sala, the graduate of the Conservatory of Milan, who has recently established himself in Duluth, is getting a good start. He is said to be by far the best teacher ever in Duluth or the Northwest.

Articles of incorporation of the Mesaba Land company, with the McKinnies and Horace Wulston as incorporators, and the Hart Shoe company, incorporators, which have already been mentioned, were filed today.

At the Lester Park Methodist church on Tuesday, March 21, there will be a vocal, instrumental and literary entertainment under the charge of Prof. Doane, assisted by the Presbyterian church choir and other friends of the church.

Excellent progress is being made in the rehearsal of the "Messiah" which is to be given at Temple Opera on June 11 and 12 by a chorus of 250 voices. The West Duluth chorus of sixty voices is said to be one of the most perfect.

The army men who have been stationed here during the past two and a half months have succeeded in listing thirteen recruits for a period of five years. This is considered fair success. The recruits will receive $12 a month the first year.

Capt. Stewart, commodore of the Ward line, is in Duluth looking after the contract made by the Imperial mill with the propeller Stevens, exclusively noted in The Herald Monday. The mill company will decide whether it will load the Stevens at its present dock or get it to mill warehouses.

Toren Hatten, of Aitkin, who was brought before the municipal court yesterday afternoon on a charge of battery, preferred by Maria Johnson, of West Duluth, was committed to await the action of the grand jury. The case required the service of an interpreter, the witnesses being mostly Scandinavian.

Oliver R. Mathers, of Pelican Rapids, will establish a brick and tile yard at St. Louis. The company is capitalized at $10,000, and agrees to immediately put up ten houses for operatives and turn out brick by June 1, and to employ at least fifty men. The land company has leased the brick concern five acres for a term of five years.

Two drunks were arraigned before Judge Morris this morning and fined $10 and costs each. Charles Doran was acquitted on a charge of larceny, but enough evidence was found against him to sustain a second charge of burglary, and he was committed to the county jail to await the next term of court.

Rev. George H. Kemp objects to the statement that there is going to be a "fancy ball" at the parlors of his church Friday evening, as announced this morning. He says there is to be a social and sale of fancy articles on Friday at Enid church, but friends must not be disappointed if there is no ball.
